Notes that a separate building is necessary for the High School Dept of the Maharaja's College and that it should be undertaken without delay

I have seen the likely places Only two are suitable — are the plain opposite the Vysoo Boarding Hostel, which is elevated, level and in every sense desirable The other is in the Compound of the Maharaja's College to the East of the building + in a line with the Jubilee Institute Either of these will do well The Dewan would perhaps like to see + decide - Please send this file to Mysore

My dear Mr Balasundaram Iyer

I send herewith copy of a D O dated 19th instant from Mr Denham regarding the additional accommodation he needs Will you kindly let me know if the Government will view the request favourably this year considering that the Budget has already been passed May I ask the D P W to prepare plans and estimates

D O dated 19th August 1913 from Mr T Denham Principal, Maharaja's College Mysore to the Inspector General of Education in Mysore

The question of providing immediately additional accommodation for the College is becoming more and more urgent The small rooms which have been converted out of the verandah corners are in use and I could still do with another small room for the use of the Language students Next year there is almost certain to be duplicated classes in both the Intermediate classes

Downstairs the school is in even a worse position Every room is occupied and I do not see how we are to even house the scientific material contained in the 40 packing cases either already here or on their way A large number of additional almirahs is a first necessity Then a grant has been given for benches for practical work We have absolutely no room for these Mr Krishna Murti says also that two separate science lecture rooms are necessary

If use is to be made of the grants for scientific apparatus cheap temporary buildings should be erected near the College A separate Lavatory for the College staff might be included--the whole costing perhaps about Rs 15 000/- Much of this outlay would ultimately be wasted if the buildings are temporary

Better still, if Government would kindly settle the question of a separate building for the High School This must come sooner or later If the site were fixed on the science buildings could be immediately erected as a permanent part of the school building and much money would be ultimately saved

But the question of providing for the teaching of science is an immediate one and I shall be glad if youwill kindly bring it to the

the notice of Government

Report to accompany the plan for constructing a High School at Mysore

Reference - D O No 3927 dated 15th October from the Secretary to Government Education Department

At present the College and the High School are held in the Maharaja's College building

The High School classes occupy the ground floor which consists of 9 rooms Of these three are used as Teachers Room, Meteorological Observatory and Head Masters office respectively The remaining 6 rooms accommodate 6 classes having 266 students

There is only one room alloted for science work where experiments are shown and here also the apparatus and appliances are arranged To impart instruction on modern lines, separate rooms as far as possible are stated to be necessary for physics Chemistry Practical Geometry and Drawing There is also no separate accommodation for the High School reading room and Library

2 The first floor consisting of 13 rooms which are occupied by the College Department also affords insufficient accommodation Additional accommodation will also be needed for the Honours courses and possibl for the duplication of the Intermediate classes

3 The accompanying sketch plans will clearly show the present accommodation of the ground and first floors and how the rooms are being utilised

by the High School and the College Departments

4 The College building as it is it does not appear can be extended and any attempt to do so may disfigure the beauty of the building

5 Under these circumstances it is desirable to have a separate building constructed for the High School for the efficient working of both the School and College

6 The appended design prepared in this office provides for 15 rooms and a hall The use to which each room will be put is indicated in the design If the proposal to construct a new High School building is approved by Government the plan will be sent to the Chief Engineer for regular plans and estimates being prepared
